

Worldwide Expertise for Food & Flowers

www.delphy.nl/en

The agricultural world is constantly changing. More internationalization, more need for knowledge development. The demand for advanced knowledge is increasing in the Netherlands and worldwide

Delphy is contributing to

- Health, food safety, sustainability and the well-being of people in this world
- Optimization in production of crops through knowledge development and implementation
- Achieving your goals by sharing knowledge and expertise through our consultants and researchers

Delphy is independent

The independent position of Delphy ensures independent and current knowledge on cultivation and management.

The core of Delphy
Knowledge development and
Knowledge implementation

Knowledge development

The core of Delphy is the development of knowledge about the cultivation of crops and the optimization of the cultivation conditions. By knowledge development in our own practice locations we can provide your company with the latest knowledge and insights. At our practice locations we develop key knowledge about crops, mechanization, automation, ICT applications and monitoring crops from a distance.

Knowledge Implementation

Delphy implements knowledge in all areas of cultivation:

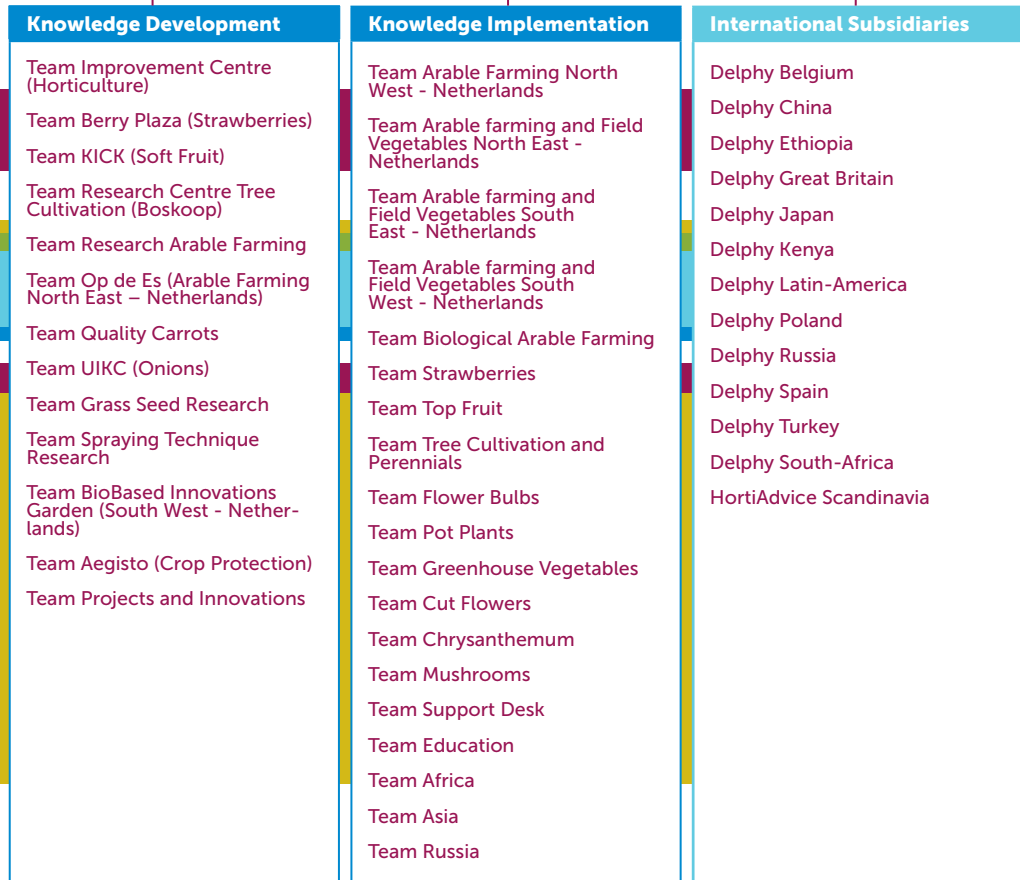

- Delphy advises growers, farmers and breeders
- Delphy implements cultivation concepts
- Delphy provides (customized) trainings
- Delphy develops turnkey projects and executes them
- Delphy takes responsibility for operational management

Our method

For Delphy the development and implementation of knowledge and skills are a personal and confidential matter that should fit the needs of our customers. Consultants and researchers from Delphy study the question and execute their expertise personally or together with a colleague. Delphy has teams by sector, region or country. Your relationship with one of our consultants is personal, but you benefit from the experience of the entire team.

Delphy: Worldwide Expertise for Food & Flowers

Internationalization holds more meaning for Delphy than exporting and importing knowledge. We implement knowledge locally. Delphy is present all over the world with local experts. Through local offices or participations we are responding to the local language, culture and demand of our partners. This also generates new knowledge that can be applied in the Netherlands; a win-win situation.
